Labor-Management Council

Membership Application Form

What if labor and management could combine their strengths and ideas on vital community issues? Imagine the impact. In Kansas City, we don't have to imagine: We already have the Labor-Management Council of Greater Kansas City. From its inception in 1979 by community leaders including Bill Dunn Sr., Bob Reeds and the Rev. Frank Murphy, the LMC has found many ways to combine the strengths of labor and of management, and to include allies and associates of the labor-management community in our efforts.

By joining the LMC, your organization becomes a partner with more than 80 other companies, unions, governments, educators and nonprofits focused on the most vital issues faced by our community. The mission of the Labor-Management Council is to enhance collaboration by solidifying trust and communication between labor and management in the community. Through the LMC, labor and management will be:

- Providing effective leadership for communities throughout the metropolitan area using the knowledge, expertise, and influence gathered and effectively deployed through our diverse participation, and developing the leadership capabilities of the labor-management community;

- Fostering principles of cooperation and mutual respect between labor and management through leading by example, and earning a national reputation for positive labor-management relations by achievement of common goals;

- Participating in economic development growth and retention where a united labor/management voice will positively impact our region.
