Mid-Level Leadership Training Program Nomination-Application Instructions

The Mid-Level Leadership Training Program is accepting nominations for its 13th class, which begins Sept. 26, 2007. Up to 24 persons will be accepted into the program by the Selection Committee. Nominees need to supply the following to the LMC by Sept. 15, 2007:

1. A completed nomination-application form (see reverse).
2. A signed letter of nomination from the applicant's organization. Up to three additional letters of reference and/or other objective evidence of demonstrated leadership will be considered.
3. A brief cover letter written by the applicant explaining why the applicant is a good candidate for the Mid-Level Leadership Training Program.

Individuals must be nominated by their organization. Self-nominations will not be accepted for consideration. Organizations can nominate as many persons as they wish. The Selection Committee will review the nominations, selecting participants based upon their potential for leadership as identified by their organizations and their record of past leadership in the workplace and/or the community. Due to limited class size, the Selection Committee may not be able to choose all qualified nominees in a particular year. Nominees not selected due to class size are welcome to submit nominations for the next class.

While not required, the Selection Committee encourages nominations from both labor and management in the same workplace, even within the same unit or team. The Selection Committee seeks a balance of union/management, gender, racial and business/public sector representation in each class, but does not require any particular formula of class makeup. Nominees from either labor or management in a unionized workplace are desired, but nominees from firms that serve unionized companies and unions, United Way agencies, nonprofits and foundations are also welcome.

The cost is $850 per person for nominees from LMC member organizations and $950 per person for non member organizations. This includes 16 four-hour class sessions (eight in the fall, eight in the spring), all program materials, 16 class dinners and selected LMC events. The program is co-sponsored by Rockhurst University. Most class sessions take place at the Rockhurst main campus in midtown Kansas City; other sessions may take place at four sites and at the Electronic Problem Solving Center in North Kansas City.

For more information, please contact Bob Jacobi at the LMC office. The phone number is (816) 501-4565; fax is 501-3198 and email is bob.jacobi@rockhurst.edu.
